

The CAME New Educator's Award

Nomination deadline: November 19, 2010

The Award

This award, named in honour of Dr. Meridith Marks', recognizes individuals in the first phase of their professional career (i.e., within seven years of first academic appointment) who have made a significant contribution to medical education.

Nomination Requirements

Nominees must be CAME members, and each nomination must be made by CAME members. Members currently serving on the CAME Executive, CAME Board of Directors or the CAME Awards Committee are not eligible. Nominations must be formally resubmitted each year to be considered.

Selection Criteria

The CAME Awards Committee will evaluate candidates based on:

1. Teaching activities (quantity, breadth, quality)
2. Development or implementation of educational innovations (degree of innovation, breadth of the innovations, acting as a catalyst, etc)
3. Scholarly activities in medical education (e.g., research, scientific presentations in medical education at local, provincial and national meetings)
4. Impact of the candidate's activities (e.g. local, provincial, national)
5. Research activities in medical education (quantity, funds received, quality)
6. Demonstration of leadership in medical education (local, provincial, national)
7. Demonstration of administrative abilities and duties at the local, provincial, national and international levels.
8. Scientific presentations in medical education (local, national, international meetings)
9. Scientific publications in medical education

Submission requirements

Submissions must include:

1. Letter of nomination that addresses the above criteria.
2. The nominee's complete curriculum vitae.

Please submit 6 copies of the nominating documents to CAME as well as an electronic copy via email to: smutschler@afmc.ca

Nominations should be submitted to the:

CAME Awards Committee
Canadian Association for Medical Education (CAME)
800 – 265 Carling Av., Ottawa ON K1S 2E1

Presentation

The award is presented at the CAME Annual Luncheon during the Canadian Conference on Medical Education. The recipient is awarded a commemorative plaque and a prize of $1,000.
