The CAME Awards Committee, chaired Dr. Brian Simmons, University of Toronto, is pleased to announce the recipients of the 2015 CAME Awards.

Ian Hart Award for Distinguished Contribution to Medical Education

Established in 1992 in honor of Dr. Ian Hart, founder of CAME, this award recognizes senior faculty who have made an exceptional contribution to medical education throughout their academic career.

CAME is delighted to present the 2015 Ian Hart Award for Distinguished Contribution to Medical Education to Dr. Kevin Imrie, University of Toronto.

Kevin Imrie, MD, FRCPC

Kevin Imrie, MD, FRCPC, is the physician-in-chief and professor of medicine at Sunnybrook Health Sciences Centre. A clinical hematologist, Dr. Imrie is also the Vice-Chair, Education for the University of Toronto's department of medicine, overseeing the continuum of medical education in the department.

A dedicated physician and medical educator, Dr. Imrie has served in a number of leadership capacities, including Vice-President of Education with the Royal College and Director of Postgraduate Programs as well as Associate Dean, Admission and Evaluation in Postgraduate Medicine for the University of Toronto. He is also a "peer surveyor" with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario and has served with many other health care organizations across Canada.

Dr. Imrie is a highly regarded teacher and past recipient of a wide variety of teaching awards, including the University of Toronto's prestigious Faculty of Medicine Award for Excellence in Postgraduate Medicine Education and the Department of Medicine's Teacher of the Year.

CAME Meridith Marks New Educator Award

The 2015 Meridith Marks New Educator Award, named in honour of Dr. Meridith Marks, recognizes individuals in the first phase of their professional career who have made a significant contribution to medical education.

CAME is delighted to present the 2015 Meridith Marks New Educator Award to Dr. Christina St-Onge, Université de Sherbrooke

Christina St-Onge, Ph.D

Dr Christina St-Onge is associate professor at the Department of Medicine at the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences, Université de Sherbrooke. She holds the Société des médecins de l'Université de Sherbrooke Research Chair in Medical Education since 2009. She completed her PhD in measurement and evaluation in 2007 (Université Laval) and her Postdoctoral Fellowship in 2008 (Medical Council of Canada). Dr St-Onge's current program of research addresses the quantification and consequences of adopting different conceptualizations of validity on assessment development and monitoring. She is also interested in how conceptualizations of rater variability, and thus development of rater-based assessment and research on rater cognition, are informed by the underlying conceptualizations of validity. She strives to combine her psychometric training with a broader humanities and social sciences perspective in the study of this emerging epistemological framework of validity and validation.

We invite you to join your colleagues at the CAME Awards Luncheon and Lecture on Monday, April 27, 2015 in Vancouver to recognize these award winners. Tickets for the CAME Luncheon are available for purchase when you register for CCME 2015 (<http://www.mededconference.ca>).

It would be greatly appreciated if you could communicate this news internally to your colleagues who may wish to join us in congratulating these outstanding individuals for their contribution to Canadian medical education.
