Tuesday, June 6, 2017 - This webinar will be delivered in English.

Presentation 1: 12:00 to 13:00 EST
Presentation 2: 12:00 to 13:00 PST (3:00pm-4:00pm EST)

Title: Effective Presentations at Conferences: The message and the metaphor

Presenters:

Risa Freeman, MD, MEd, CCFP, FCFP Vice-Chair Education and Director, Office of Education Scholarship, Department of Family & Community Medicine, University of Toronto

Morag Paton, MEd. Acting Administrative & Project Manager, Education Vice-Deans, Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto

Rick Penciner, MSc MD CCFP-EM FCFP Associate Professor, University of Toronto. Director of Medical Education and Centre for Education, North York General Hospital.

Outline:

Why do your presentations at conferences sometimes fall flat?

As educators, we should be modelling exemplary presentation skills and harnessing our creativity. Instead our audiences are often lost in our PowerPoint slides and
- endless
- bullet
- points

We would not tolerate this level of tediousness in the education innovations that we create so why do we remain in the box when we present? Effective presentations at conferences are about communicating our message effectively and with creativity.

This webinar will engage you in a conversation that examines the traditional paradigms of the conference presentation. We will challenge you to consider your scholarly message and how to represent that message in your presentations.

Objectives:

By the end of the webinar the participant will be able to:

- Discuss why bullets (on slides) are lethal and what you might consider doing differently with your presentation software
- Describe how the message and metaphor combine into creating an effective presentation
- Find some sources online to access high quality digital image files